

Terminology used by the Move:

"The Move" is a religeous group formed in the late 60's that grew to it's peak in the mid 70's and now is almost extinct other than a few who are to afraid to leave or to afraid of Hell.

Board of education = a wooden board used to beat children

Seat of learning = what they called a child's bottom

Father ministry = group of leaders who make all the rules for everyone in "the move"

Deeper in = A place to hide from the world where not even a nuke can get you, deep in the literal forest, where you eat roots and bark and woman use moss as sanitary products.

The body = the entire group of movites around the world who make up the church, or "body" of Christ.

Body house = a literal house where body members live in communal living, and where the farm people can stop for a rest when in town shopping.

Family = a word used to gather the people for dinner, May Moore made this popular with her unique shout "FAMILLYYYYY" Actually "family" consisted of anyone and everyone in "the move"

The Flesh = anything and everything to do with reality and a desire to enjoy it.

Outer Court = Christians but not part of the Move

Inner court = "Movites", better than other Christians , God's chosen few

Walking out the year = sneaking around behind buildings and holding hands without getting caught for 12 months before being allowed to get married.

End times = the last days before the world ends, these were the days just before 1975, 1982, 1986, and 2000 when the world was supposed to end. Apparently we live in these times stil and again!

Praises = 1 – 2 hours of knee-buckling worship with kids fainting
